ESLR Seminar Series

This year we will start our ESLR Seminar Series with a focus on the research of ECRs with a first round on Social Learning. The seminar takes place on Zoom on Thursday at 4pm CEST.

Talks should be about 20-30 minutes long, be a work in progress, a pre-print or a finished project and should have an ECR as the main (or one of the main) researchers.

Schedule

DATE	SPEAKER	TOPIC

5 lessons we learnt by screwing-up a developmental psychology study

Are you designing a study? Elisa Bandini and Eva Reindl talk us through mistakes they've made and how we can avoid doing the same.

Things I wish someone had told me when I was applying for PhDs

Applying for a PhD is often one of the first steps in a career in research, but it can be a very opaque process. Luckily for us, an anonymous author has offered a list of advice they wish they'd been given when they were making their applications. The advice is based on their own experience applying for PhD positions in the UK.
